The Public Employment Risk Reduction Program established by Ohio House Bill 308 provides the following: Any public employee or public employee representative who believes that a violation of an occupational safety or health standard exists that threatens physical harm, or that an imminent danger exists, may request an inspection by giving notice to the administrator's designee of the Public Employment Risk Reduction Program, or an authorized representative, of such violation or danger. Any such notice shall be reduced to writing, shall set forth within reasonable particularity the grounds for the notice, and must be signed by the employee or employee representative. Within seven days of the receipt of the complaint notice, the administrator's designee must submit a letter of notification to the public employer, sent by certified mail, which outlines the allegations of the complaint. This letter of notification will not include the name(s) of the complainant(s). The public employer must then, within thirty days, respond back to the administrator's designee regarding the allegations. If the employer does not respond, or if the administrator's designee determines that the response is inadequate, an investigation of the alleged conditions will result. If the administrator's designee, or an authorized representative, determines that there are no reasonable grounds to believe that a violation or danger exists, he shall notify the employee or representative of the employee in writing of such determination.
